

Andrey Tomashevskiy

CONTACT INFORMATION	Department of Political Science Rutgers University 89 George st. New Brunswick NJ, 08901	Phone: (646) 427-0741 E-mail: a.tomashevskiy@rutgers.edu
ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS	Rutgers University Assistant Professor, 2017- Princeton University Fellow, Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance 2018- University of California, Davis Lecturer, 2016-2017 Washington University in St. Louis Postdoctoral Research Fellow, 2015-2016
EDUCATION	University of California, Davis (Davis, CA) Ph.D., Political Science, 2015 New York University (New York, NY) M.A., Political Science/International Relations, 2007 Kean University (Union, NJ) B.A., Political Science, 2006
PUBLICATIONS	Cahill, Christine and Andrey Tomashevskiy. 2018. "Political Contributions and Party Policy Ambiguity" Forthcoming at Comparative Political Studies Tomashevskiy, Andrey. 2017. "Investing In Violence: Foreign Direct Investment and Coups in Authoritarian Regimes" Journal of Politics 79(2): 409-423 Tomashevskiy, Andrey. 2015. "Capital Preferences: International Capital and Government Partisanship" International Studies Quarterly 59(4): 776-789 Tomashevskiy, Andrey and Daniel Kono. 2015. "Extra Credit: Preferential Trade Agreements and Credit Ratings" International Studies Quarterly 59(2): 291-302 Tomashevskiy, Andrey. 2014. "Trade and Democracy: Which Leads and How?" Handbook of the International Political Economy of Trade , ed. David Deese (Edward Elgar, U.K.)
ADDITIONAL TRAINING	EITM (Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models) Summer Institute, UC Berkeley 2013

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

- “Buying Opportunities: Corruption and Foreign Direct Investment”
Book Manuscript in Preparation
- “Friends and Partners: Recovering Affinity Networks With the Graphical LASSO”
(With Jesse Hammond) (Under Review)
- “Networked Capital: Modeling the Dynamic Network of Bilateral Investment Treaties” (Under Review)
- “Do Activists and Private Money Increase Party Extremism?” (Under Review)
- “Not in My Backyard: Electoral Consequences of FDI Sources and Type”
- “Buying Access: Corruption, Institutional Distance and International Investment“

AWARDS

- American Political Science Association Annual Conference Travel Grant (2013)
- Political Networks Conference Travel Fellowship (Funded by the NSF) (2013)
- Graduate Student Association Travel Award (2013, 2014)
- Charles Hardin and Emeriti Travel Award (2012, 2013)
- First Year Departmental Fellowship: University of California, Davis (2008)

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Rutgers University

- Introduction to International Relations (Spring 2018)
- International Political Economy (Graduate) (Spring 2018)
- International Political Economy (Undergraduate) (Fall 2017)

Washington University in St. Louis

- Introduction to International Relations (Spring 2016)
- Global Political Economy (Fall 2015)

University of California, Davis

- International Law (Spring 2017)
- Global Political Economy (Fall 2016)
- US Foreign Policy (Fall 2016, Winter 2017)
- Theories of International Relations (Spring 2015, Summer 2015, Winter 2017, Spring 2017)
- Political Science Research Methods (Summer 2013, Winter 2014, Spring 2014, Summer 2014, Spring 2015)
- Introduction to International Relations (Spring 2012, Summer 2012)

CONFERENCE
PRESENTATIONS

- “Buying Access: Corruption, Institutional Distance and International Investment“
- International Studies Association Annual Meeting 2018, San Francisco

“Friends and Partners: Inferring the Global Friendship Network”

- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2016, Chicago
- Political Networks Annual Conference 2015, Portland

“Not in My Backyard: Electoral Consequences of FDI Sources and Type”

- International Political Economy Society Annual Meeting 2015, Stanford
- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2015, Chicago (Junior Scholar Symposium)

“Networked Capital: Modeling the Dynamic Network of Bilateral Investment Treaties”

- American Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2014, Washington DC
- Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2014, Chicago

“Investing in Violence: Foreign Direct Investment and Coups in Authoritarian Regimes”

- International Studies Association Annual Meeting 2013, San Francisco
- Western Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2012, Portland

“Capital Preferences: International Capital and Government Partisanship”

- American Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2013, Chicago
- Accepted for American Political Science Association Annual Meeting 2012, New Orleans

“Carrots and Sticks: Trade Conditionality and the International Sources of Democratization”

- International Studies Association Annual Meeting 2012, San Diego

SOFTWARE	Stata, R, L ^A T _E X, Python, SQL
LANGUAGES	Russian (Native Speaker), German (Functional reading, writing and speaking)
SERVICE	Reviewer: Journal of Politics , International Organization , Party Politics , Comparative Political Studies , International Studies Quarterly , World Development , Economics & Politics
	Discussant: MPSA 2016

REFERENCES	Daniel Kono Associate Professor University of California, Davis Dept. of Political Science dykono@ucdavis.edu	Gabriella Montinola Associate Professor University of California, Davis Dept. of Political Science grmontinola@ucdavis.edu
	Zeev Maoz Professor University of California, Davis Dept. of Political Science zmaoz@ucdavis.edu	Margit Tavits Professor Washington University in St. Louis Dept. of Political Science mtavits@wustl.edu